

Q. Any tracks from y'all's albums you'd recommend for a first time listener?
Hate Disease!

Q. How do y'all balance playing in a band with raising families, work, and other life commitments?

First of all, we are super fortunate to have people surrounding us who support what we are doing. We make a point to make our families and our day jobs a priority, but one day a week we have band practice and playing shows is pretty much the only time some of us get to have adult interaction with people outside our homes.

Q. Where can people follow your work?
Septik.bandcamp.com

*Our lovely friends Septik are playing a set in Seattle this May 10 at the upcoming: Sabotage Noise 2nd ZINE-IVERSARY CELEBRATION!

Come through and see their set, grab some zines, enjoy refreshments, play some chess, preview some art, and listen to a panel from awesome past zine interviewees!

SEPTIK

A Short Band Interview

Septik are a punk band from Bremerton Washington that "plays songs about shit we don't like in the world and encouraging change." Sabotage Noise presents a lil Q&A

Q. Y'all are always down to come through to benefit shows and other rad community events, often providing the sound setup. What importance do y'all see in this work?

Music has been a huge influence on our lives! New bands are coming out all the time! We want to continue the tradition and make sure that these events continue to happen.

Q. How do you view music's role in helping promote change?

Music has always been a way of making people aware of current issues and the effects it has on society.

Q. What are some of your musical influences or favorite bands?

Joel- Crass, Bob Dylan, and Misfits.

Zach – Metallica, Nofx, and 2pac.

Josh – Grand Funk Railroad, Black Sabbath, and James Brown.

Lyman – Sabicas, Bach and Eric Dolphy.
