

Sabotage Noise interview cont.

What principles guide your show planning?

Community building is at the heart beat of everything we do. SNP has a 3 point mission

- 1-Build community.
- 2-Radicalize the community we build.
- 3- Provide support to the projects of that radicalized community.

We are horizontally organized.

We operate on consent based decision making.

We do our best to make integrity and principled decisions in everything we do. From the organizations we align ourselves with to the artists we book.

How do you handle problematic artists?

Quality over clout!

We take a hardline against fascism, racism, sexism, homophobia, transphobia, xenophobia, antisemitism, and abusive behavior. And we expect the artists we platform to do the same. We have had to uninvite at least one well known "anarchist" folk singer due to his platforming of antisemites and "reformed nazis"...

What sorts of music do y'all work with?

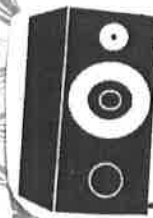

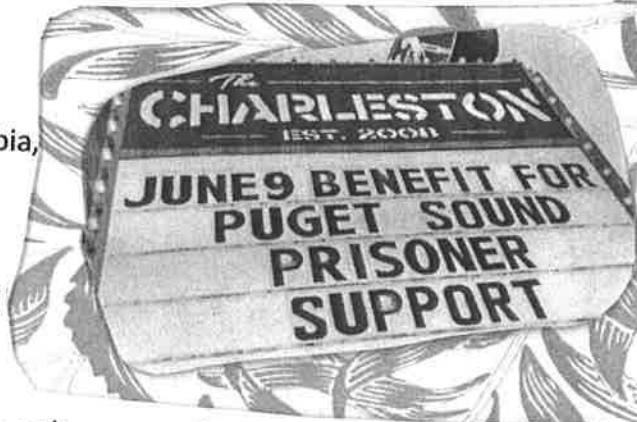

We've primarily been working with various sub-genres of Punk Rock, but we're always looking to work with artists from other scenes. Most of our shows are mixed line ups; some rap/hip-hop in that mix would be fucking great.

Any big goals for the future?

As for the immediate future we have Sabotage Fest, and Sabo-tour (a benefit tour of the Pacific Northwest) on the horizon. Long-term goals for the collective include a record label/merch distro. We would love to put out benefit albums and promote leftist bands and artists with a focus on amplifying the voices of marginalized communities, as well as step up our screen printing of shirts, patches etc.

How do people get in touch or hear about your shows?

We're active on insta... email...all of which you can find on at the bottom of the show listing inside "Sabotage Noise!" [This very zine ;)]

Q+A With Our Benefit Show Booking Collective

For our fourth issue, SN! is doing a little shameless self-promotion by introducing the folks running this rag! Sabotage Noise Productions is a Kitsap county-based booking collective for benefit shows. We asked one of our members a few questions for your pleasure:

Whats the origin story of Sabotage Noise Productions?

It all started with a spontaneous message to a homie from The Charleston (our local music venue here in so-called Bremerton) about throwing a little benefit show for Kitsap Food Not Bombs. The show was a hit. The sense of community and solidarity proved to be extremely addictive. So we decided to do it again. Another Hit! It was shortly after this we decided that we wanted to move past just booking shows for self support. So we decided to organize as a booking collective; Sabotage Noise Productions was born!

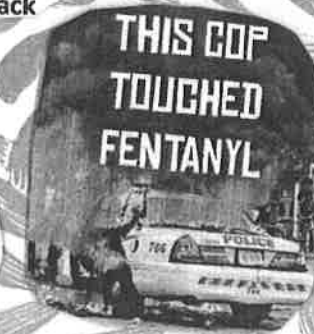

So are y'all involved in organizing outside of booking shows?

That's a resounding YES! If it weren't for everyone of our members involvement in radical community organizing this project wouldn't have made it passed its first show. Shouts out to all crews who've made it happen, you know who you are.

We have folks who do harm reduction, food distros, union organizing, sweep support, and general mutual aid work all across the Salish Sea area.  Cont. on back

HARM REDUCTION HOTWIRE

Despite what fearmongering copaganda shows and local news might lead you to believe, Fentanyl powder does not have the molecular structure required to be able to be absorbed by the skin! It took YEARS for pharmaceutical scientists to develop the fentanyl patch that's prescribed by doctors for this very reason.
